RE: Letter of Recommendation

It is with great pleasure to recommend the marketing services of The Inline Group who offers recruiting services for primary care needs.

Bethel Family Clinic entered into this partnership over a year ago when we experienced a need for a replacement mid-level provider when our contracted provider had to leave. Within a month they were able to send us over several candidates, of which one was able to be hired and start within a few months. Although that relationship did not work out, they continued to send me other candidates and since then have hired two more. This is the first time in ten years that our facility has had a full staff of providers.

Inline continues to keep us informed of potential candidates, makes it very convenient for us to put our account on hold until the need arises again, and keeps in touch with us monthly. I enjoy the not so pressured approach that this marketing provides over the "head hunters" with their exuberant fees, with little commitment of retention.

I am a supporter of Inline Group, and hope they can expand their services to recruiting behavioral health and oral health clinicians to better service primary care.

Sincerely,
