To Whom It May Concern:

After several promising candidate leads of our own recruitment efforts failed, we engaged the Inline Group to help with the sourcing of a midlevel medical provider. This was our first try with mobile app sourcing. Our assigned account manager was easy to work with and our position opportunity was ready for publishing in just a few days. To our great surprise, the Inline Group presented within 2 weeks several qualified candidates, some of which within a very short distance of our center, and we were able to reach an employment agreement with a candidate shortly thereafter. We see our first experience with the Inline Group as highly positive and the quick turnaround allows us to have credit for any future recruiting needs.

Sincerely,
