To Whom It May Concern:

Neighborhood Health has been working with The Inline Group for about a year in our search for a Chief Medical Officer and family physicians.

The experience has been different from any other search firm with which I have worked. The subscription model allows for continuous recruitment and the cost is reasonable and predictable.

Also unique, is that The Inline Group has consistently presented Neighborhood Health multiple candidates at the same time. If a candidate is interested, the health center is informed. The health center can then see the range of candidates interested in the position.

From the beginning of our relationship, we have never been without a candidate. I have been impressed with the range of candidates that they reach and the wide geographical distribution. Candidates have ranged from physicians completing residency to physicians with more than ten years of practice experience. Neighborhood Health is in Nashville and we have had candidates from Texas, Chicago and South Carolina. We have also had many regional candidates that we would never know are looking for other positions or closing a practice.

In the year that we have worked with The Inline Group they have helped us fill the Chief Medical Officer position and two physician positions. These are quality physicians with excellent backgrounds and board certification.

I believe the success of The Inline Group is based on their excellent customer service and their model. Our account representative is always on top of our current situation and ready to answer any questions we have about our candidates. They serve both the candidate and the practice providing information and channels for direct contact between the physician and our practice. We have always felt in charge of the search and never under pressure.

Sincerely,
